Keeping your technology working to support your business goals – without costing a fortune!

Your technology is the foundation of your company – helping you stay productive, communicate with colleagues and customers, and above all, letting you get work done. Think of everything you do that requires technology... then think of the cost when technology doesn't work properly:

• Payroll dollars are wasted
• Customers lose trust in your company
• Business opportunities are missed

The financial loss quickly adds up – and if you're paying by the hour for support, you're spending far too much to fix a problem that should've been prevented in the first place!

Haxxess offers managed IT services – helping you rest assured knowing your technology is always working properly without breaking the bank. Call 705-222-TECH (8324) or send us an email to info@haxxess.com.

Our managed IT services, above all else, give you peace of mind knowing your technology will be working to support your business goals. How? Because we're able to:

• Stay proactive with around-the-clock monitoring and regular maintenance to stop the majority of issues.

• Take care of your support and service needs at an affordable, flat-rate monthly fee.

• Provide remote support via phone, email or online, as well as onsite support during emergencies.

• Manage vendors to select and procure the right products at the right price – ensuring they're fit for your needs.

Need an IT support company that offers managed IT services – helping you make the most of your technology investment? Contact Haxxess at 705-222-TECH (8324) or send us an email to info@haxxess.com.
